

Shaanxi University of Chinese Medicine

2026/2027 Academic Year International

Student Enrollment Guide

I. University Profile

The predecessor of Shaanxi University of Chinese Medicine (SUCM) was the Northwest Traditional Chinese Medicine Training School established in Xi'an in 1952. It was upgraded to Shaanxi College of Traditional Chinese Medicine in 1959 and relocated to the ancient capital Xianyang in 1961. It was designated as one of the eight key TCM institutions in China under Document No. 56 issued by the CPC Central Committee in 1978. SUCM began enrolling postgraduate students in 1978 and became one of the first institutions authorized to confer master's degrees in 1981. It was renamed Shaanxi University of Chinese Medicine in 2015. In 2021, it became a co-construction university by the Shaanxi Provincial People's Government and the National Administration of Traditional Chinese Medicine. In 2022, it was approved by the Ministry of Education to become a member unit of the "China Joint Graduate School of Traditional Chinese Medicine." In 2024, SUCM became a doctoral degree-granting unit and was listed as a National

High-Quality Undergraduate University. In 2025, it was granted the qualification to be recommended as an outstanding undergraduate graduate for admission to postgraduate studies without entrance examination. After over 70 years of development, SUCM has evolved into a medical university focusing on TCM education, while emphasizing the integration of Traditional Chinese and Western Medicine, and supporting interdisciplinary collaboration among Medicine, Science, Engineering, Liberal Arts, and Management.

VI. Application Procedure

Step 1: Take the CSCA (Undergraduate Applicants only)

Undergraduate applicants must take the CSCA organized by the China Scholarship Council and obtain a score report. Please check the official CSCA website (<http://www.csc.cn>) for specific test dates and content. Test subjects are suggested as follows:

Language of Instruction	Program Type	Test Subjects
Chinese	Science/Engineering	Science Chinese, Mathematics
	Arts /Business	Arts Chinese, Mathematics

Note: Suggested test periods are December 2025, and January, March, April 2026.

Step 2: Submit Application Documents

1. Applicants should download the SUCM International Student Application Form from the School of International Education website.
2. Submit scanned copies of all application documents to the admissions email gjy@sntcm.edu.cn by May 31, 2026.

Step 3: Review & Admission

1. The university will review the completeness and authenticity of application materials and conduct a comprehensive evaluation (Master's applicants may require written tests and interviews) to determine the admission list.
2. Applicants must check their email regularly and provide supplementary information or documents as requested based on the application review feedback.

Step 4: Issuance of Admission Documents

Admitted students will receive the Admission Notice and the Visa Application for Study in China Form (JW202). Students can download the electronic JW202 form via the Visa Assistant section on the Study in China website (<http://www.campuschina.org>)).

Step 5: Visa Application & Registration

1. Admitted students should take their ordinary passport, Admission Notice, Visa Application for Study in China Form (JW201/JW202), original Foreigner Physical Examination Form, and all original ancillary medical reports (valid for 6 months) to the Chinese embassy or consulate in their home country to apply for a Student (X1) Visa. They must report to SUCM by the date specified in the admission documents and apply for a residence permit within 30 days of entry into China.

2. The registration period is generally from September 1 to September 30, 2026 (specific date subject to the Admission Notice). Those who fail to report by the deadline without prior approval will be considered to have forfeited their admission and any scholarship eligibility. Early registration is generally not accepted.

3. Upon registration, the following original documents must be presented for verification:
